DWI Impact Panel

DWI Impact Panels (DWI-IP) were established in the 1970’s to raise awareness regarding impaired driving and how it affects a community. DWI-IP’s are coordinated by many different organizations throughout New York State. They are utilized to reduce the number of innocent people that are injured and killed on our roadways by impaired drivers.

DWI victims share their personal and tragic situation to groups of convicted DWI offenders. Some panels are open to the general public, high schools, college students, and others. Some DWI-IP’s charge a fee.

Offender/offender family members’ panelist would relay how being convicted/dealing with a death or injury from DWI has affected their life.

Goals

To offer victims an outlet to speak of their experience as part of the healing process.

To provide a chance to prevent other families from going through a similar experience.

To make something positive out of their tragedy.

To provide offenders an opportunity to understand impaired driving from a victim’s perspective.

To have attendees experience true situations in which families were changed forever by impaired driving.
Would you like to become a panelist?

If your life has been affected by an impaired driving situation, we would like to hear from you.

When an impaired driving crash occurs, many victims feel powerless. Most people never believe a DWI crash could happen to them. Then the crime occurs and it is usually random. Victims do not have time to think. Not only do impaired driving crashes kill, they leave victims/victim families injured. The injuries are not always visible and can be physical, psychological, emotional, and financial.
